MEDIA ADVISORY: MARSOC Marines enrolled in the Special Operations Training Course (STC) head out to Dodge City for a shooting package

MARINE CORPS BASE CAMP LEJEUNE N.C. (April 27, 2010) Marines and Sailors from U.S. Marine Corps Forces Special Operations Command, attending the Special Operations Training Course (STC) are scheduled to conduct a shooting package at the Dodge City, urban terrain range aboard Stone Bay, Wednesday April 28.

The Special Operations Training Course (STC) is a newly implemented 22-day curriculum geared toward reinforcing basic and intermediate war fighting skills and enhancing the combat operational capabilities of MARSOC support group personnel to further prepare them for the rigors of combat. Some of these skills are: fire support, land navigation, use of various types of communication equipment, weapons packages, in-depth field medical training, tactics and culture and civil affairs. This is the first class of students to attend this new course.

Any media who want to attend this event or have questions about this release can contact MARSOC public affairs at (910) 440-0119.
